

D. Scott Pfeil

Principal and President

The International Kennel Club of Chicago and The Great American Dog Show

Scott oversees all of IKC's show operations, and strategic plans of the organization.

Scott is an internationally respected sighthound authority who, along with his husband James Donahue, has had a great success breeding and exhibiting Afghan Hounds, Salukis, Italian Greyhounds, and Greyhounds.

For many years Scott has been the cluster chair of both the Windy City Cluster and the Cool Cluster in the Chicago suburbs. These two highly successful dog show clusters have been nominated for Show of the Year awards and receive countless accolades from exhibitors, judges, spectators, and vendors alike. He has been able to grow the clusters into nationally recognized events while providing a safe environment, even during the challenging years of the COVID pandemic. These successful show clusters are a testament to his commitment to detail when putting on nothing less than a first-class event.

He is also the director of procurement for a large education company in the Chicago area.
